Start your matlab session. 02. Go to the top menu and click File->Utilities->convert string to BSTR. 03. You will be prompted to enter the path and name of the file where you want to convert. 04. In this example, we will convert the unicode string Hello World to a BSTR (called StringExample in step 5) by clicking the 'Submit' button. The conversion will take place in another window. 05. After conversion, your Matlab workspace will contain a folder called 'StringExample'. You can use the command system('dir /s StringExample') to find out more information about this folder. After the conversion, the type of the StringExample folder is 'dir_listing'. The command dir_listing will return a list of the data types of the objects contained in the folder. 06. From the dialog box shown in figure 1, you can see that the StringExample folder contains the class files 'String_Example.m' and 'String_Example.mex'. These files contain the functions c_str() and m_str() that are used to convert a BSTR to a string. Therefore, the members of a unicode string, e.g. in the example above, will 3da54e8ca3
